PARIS, July 22.—Renewing their assaults on the Verdun front, the Germans attacked the French positions last night, but the communique issued by the war office today states that all were repulsed.

At the same time the Germans attacked the French positions in the Vosges mountains but met with no better success. The attackers were either beaten off by the fire of the French infantry or else their assaults broke down under the curtain fire of the French artillery.

LONDON, July 22.—Artillery duels were in progress all night on the Somme front with both sides preparing for attacks and counter attacks. The official statement that was issued by the war office at noon did not mention any mention of infantry actions.

Both British and German positions in the sector of Poisieux wood were there were intense fighting yesterday, were heavily shelled.

The following is the text of the war office report:

"The artillery on both sides has been much more active during the past 24 hours. The British front line and supporting trenches in several places were heavily bombarded with shells containing gas and tear fumes. There is nothing important to report from the remainder of the front."

AMSTERDAM, July 22.—Placards announcing that Germany may evacuate Belgium on the payment of $1,000,000 indemnity have been posted in the barracks at Ghent, says the Echo de Belge today. The posters also state that negotiations have been opened between the United States and Germany relative to the giving up of Belgium.

MILLION AND HALF IN BATTLE.
Mighty Host at Grips on the Somme Front in France.

LONDON, July 22.—Approximately a million and a half British, French and German soldiers are at grips on the Somme battlefield between Thiepval and Soyecourt, it is estimated by military critics.

Fresh troops are still being rushed to the front by the Germans who evidently become alarmed at the steady advance of the allies. Counter attacks by the Germans have been delivered with extreme vigor between Longueval and Martinpuich, particularly in Foursauvieux where the British were compelled to relinquish some of the ground they had gained.

Despite the strength of their works and the stubborn fighting qualities of their men, the Germans have been forced back more than 10 miles in the region north of Longueval during the present week's fighting. They were able to reconquer some of the ground they had lost but British attacks again forced them rearward.

The increase in the volume of the artillery fire indicates that reinforcements of guns as well as of men have been pushed to the front within the past few days. Night and day the thunder of the cannonade both north and south of the Somme is never stilled. The bombardments during the night are spectacles of thrilling grandeur. The horizon is marked by the red glare of bursting shells and from the rear of the trenches the sky is alight with the re glow of the drumming batteries. The German positions at Combles are being isolated by the advance of the British and French and a retirement may be compelled there to avoid the German lines being flanked.

Although the losses have been considerable, the efficiency of the allies' artillery has kept down the casualties by leveling the German trenches before the infantry is sent into the action. The German losses, especially in their center attacks, are enormous, for the Germans still adhere to mass formation attacks despite the great number of killed and wounded that results of that character entail.

TELEPHONE COMPANY'S VALUATION IS REDUCED BY STATE COMMISSION

City Wins Big Legal Battle—Public Utilities Board Declares Company Overestimates Local Plant.

Reduction in the valuation of the plant of the Lima Telephone and Telegraph Company has been ordered by the Ohio public utilities commission, and another step in the rate fight is passed unless the company takes the case to the supreme court. By cutting the valuation from $950,000 to $700,000 the commission withdraws the support on which the company has claimed to base the present rates.

The report, received this morning by Mayor Simpson and the attorneys for the city and for the company, is bulky and exhaustive in attention to details, but the more salient features are the reduction of the physical valuation and the commission's failure to recognize any other than tangible assets, "good will" being ignored in the estimate. The "productive" value, or cost of duplicating the plant, is set at $840,404.86 in the final report of the commission, this is used as a basis for figuring the present value, by deducting the depreciation. This is set forth as $700,718.70, a decrease of about 27 per cent.

The diminution in valuation, however, on which rates must be readjusted unless the supreme court moderates the decision of the public utilities commission will be about 10 per cent, according to former City Solicitor Walter S. Jackson, who directed the city's fight. There are many essential details involved, such as the interest on bonds and stocks, depreciation in the valuation of the physical plant, losses through accident, failures to pay and the like, which will undoubtedly be allowed the company, therefore it is safe to assume that the possible reductions thus anticipated will be on a ten per cent basis.

As the next step in the legal battle, the company is allowed 50 days to file appeal on error to the Ohio supreme court. That body has not heard a similar case, and the Lima telephone controversy may therefore become a test case to settle undecided points of law. Other matters of a similar nature, however, have been decided by the court on the theory that unless actual prejudice could be shown the public utilities commission had final jurisdiction.

Unless this appeal is made within the allotted time, the city will file a motion with the commission, asking that body to fix a date for a hearing to decide on rates, the new valuation being the basis to be considered.

The city is represented by former City Solicitor Walter S. Jackson and John W. Roby, employed by the Chamber of Commerce and the South Side Commercial club. The Lima Telephone and Telegraph Company is represented by Cable and Cable and Wheeler and Bentley. The fight has been waged for a year and a half, the purchase of the Bell plant and subsequent increase of rates being the disputed point.

33 ARE KILLED AT GRADE CROSSING IN OHIO DURING MAY

COLUMBUS, O., July 22.—Thirty-three persons were killed in Ohio while trying to cross over grade crossings in automobiles between May 1 and July 19 last, according to a statement issued today by the state utilities commission.

Comparative statements of fatal accidents show that 59 persons were killed by steam trains last month as against 81 in June last year and that eight fatalities occurred on interurban lines as against five a year ago. Of the 21 deaths occurring at highway crossings, fourteen were persons riding in automobiles.

During May there were 97 fatalities on the steam lines, as against 64 a year ago and six on the interurban lines as compared with nine in May last year. Of the 18 grade crossing fatalities, 95 per cent were persons in automobiles, some of whom tried to beat the train to the crossing while others met death because the engines of their machines went dead while on the track.

GIRL MURDERED, AN ADMIRER IS HELD

WILMINGTON, Del., July 22.—Miss Catherine Bodjaska, aged 20, was shot to death and her mother seriously wounded early today by an assassin at Brandywine Springs, Pa. The murderer mutilated Miss Bodjaska's body with a knife. Samuel Gangas, aged 25, was arrested at his home in Wilmington and charged with the crime, but declared he was innocent. He was released from prison yesterday after serving three months for annoying Miss Bodjaska.

HOLD HUGHES FOR KENTUCKY OFFICERS

Robert Hughes, arrested last night by plainclothesmen Roush and McCoy stated today that he would not return to Kentucky without requisition papers from the governor of that state.

Local officials wired the police department of Paris, Kentucky, where he is wanted on a charge of malicious shooting, of his refusal to return to the state without the necessary papers. They instructed Lima police to hold the man until they obtained the papers.

Police Chief McKinney received a letter several days ago informing him that Hughes was located in this city and was probably working for one of the local railroads. Investigation at the shops of the city located him in the employ of the C. & H. & D. railroad.

LONDON, July 22.—August 2, the second anniversary of Great Britain's entrance in the war will be specially celebrated in every church of England at the request of the archbishops of Canterbury and New York.

Mrs. Bertha Bailey, Ill, Ends Life by Drowning

Mrs. Bertha Bailey, 38 years old, wife of Arthur N. Bailey, and daughter of Mrs. Louise Eysenbach of 714 West High street, Lima, ended her life between the hour of 6 and 7 o'clock this morning, by jumping into a cistern located in the kitchen of her home in Spencerville. She was found when found, about four hours later, by the ice man, who was delivering his wares, and unable to locate Mrs. Bailey. Search of the house disclosed her dead body in the cistern. Undertaker C. B. Miller of Spencerville, was called and prepared the body for burial. Dr. E. J. Curtiss, coroner, will render a verdict of suicide by drowning.

Mrs. Bailey has been in ill health for some years, having suffered the amputation of a limb. She got about on crutches and although she possessed an artificial limb, Mrs. Bailey never made use of it.

About a week ago it was believed Mrs. Bailey made an effort to end her life, in a like manner. She was discovered and desisted in the act. At that time she was about the cistern.

It is believed she left her bed this morning and went direct to the kitchen. Raising up the lid which covered the indoor cistern, she is believed to have slipped to her death.

Neighbors noted the queer actions of Mrs. Bailey the past couple of weeks, they say. She had suffered several operations and her health was generally poor. This is believed to have affected her mind, causing her to commit the rash act.

The Baileys have no children, but are rearing an adopted one. Mr. Bailey is the son of the late J. N. Bailey of the Farmers' bank at Spencerville, and the family has always been socially prominent.

Besides the husband, there survive in this city the mother; Edward W. Eysenbach of 819 Brice avenue, a brother; Miss Ella Eysenbach, teacher of music and organist at the German Reformed church; and Louise and Carl F. Eysenbach, sister and brother, residing at home.

Arrangements for the funeral will not be made until word is received from the sister Norma, who resides

OPEN CAMPAIGN FOR $490,000 SCHOOL BONDS

Tomorrow will witness the firing of the opening gun in the campaign of the local school authorities to pass a bond issue of $490,000 for a south side high school, two grade buildings, repairs to all and new equipment for the present high school. In order that no misunderstandings may arise regarding the aims and methods of the proposed improvement program, the board of education will announce in a definite statement the exact intentions and hopes of the members.

LIMA HAS GROWN MORE DURING THE FIVE YEARS SINCE 1911 THAN DURING ANY DECADE PREVIOUS TO 1911. ONLY ROUTINE EXPENSES HAVE BEEN MADE FOR THE SCHOOL SYSTEM.

Lima's school conditions are much more in need of correction than the vast majority of the taxpayers realize, according to information gleaned by a survey of the local demands. With the state authorities demanding immediate action, with city funds low and the public unaware of apathetic, the schools of Lima must suffer unless the voters will rally to the defense and pass a bond issue.

Dangers from fires, from explosions and from unsanitary conditions which lack of money has deprived of repairs, together with the fact that political encroachments and lavish city expenditures of many years past have robbed the school funds of attention, are responsible for the present demands for a bond issue. The schools are overcrowded, the tax on room being increased rapidly. The number of children accommodated is twice that allowed by the Ohio state code. The heating and ventilating conditions are obsolete. Fire escapes and other protective factors, as well as sanitary drinking fountains, are lacking in many cases. The lighting is only fair.

ONLY FEAR IS "ACCIDENT"

Deutschland is Swung in Harbor With Guards Redoubled.

BALTIMORE, Md., July 22.—The German super-submarine Deutschland still lay snugly at her closely guarded dock here today watching for every possible shift of chance or weather that would aid her in her start for Germany. The activity of allied warships off the Virginia capes and of allied observers from Baltimore to Hampton Roads have forced the big under-sea boat to play a waiting game. Only superlative advantages in the way of heavy weather or a relaxation of the allied patrol will tempt the big submarine to leave her safe anchorage and take to the open sea.

Captain Paul Koenig, of the Deutschland and Captain S. Hinch, port captain of the Ocean-Rheder, which owns the submarine, decided today that they would take no chances. While they drew the mantle of mystery still more closely about the slim green hull of the Locust Point pier and redoubled their precautions against all observers of the craft, they revoked the orders which have kept the crew of the submarine keyed up for the dash down the bay. Shore leave was resumed and members of the crew were allowed to accept invitations from friends in Baltimore.

Meanwhile the agents of the German officers were hard at work "spotting" allied observers stationed from the Patuxent river to the capes, to watch the submarine's departure.

If heavy weather in Baltimore was what Captain Koenig was looking for he had it last night. A series of squalls, accompanied by a driving rain made the going choppy on the Patuxent and the rain brought a heavy mist. Not even the heavy searchlight of the tug Timmins, moored just outside the barrier of booms and scows that surrounds the Deutschland could pierce the murky atmosphere. The storm lasted from early evening until nearly dawn, but the Deutschland made no move. Just before dawn the Timmins opened up the boom across the mouth of the slip and ranged alongside the Deutschland. But there was no activity on the Deutschland herself.

The submarine's cargo had been stowed and trimmed. She was ready to slip her mooring line at a moment's notice. Captain Hinch ordered discontinued all passes to the steamer Neckar, lying alongside, from which heretofore favored guests have been allowed to look at the Deutschland. All the lines about the pier were tightened and inquirers and observers met with surely warning to keep away.

Captain Koenig and his advisers today sought means to avert two possibilities of disaster. The first was that the Deutschland might be caught and captured or sunk by the allied cruisers of the capes. The second was that an "accident" might destroy the under-sea craft on her way down Chesapeake bay. It would be a simple matter for a lumbering tug with a tow of barges or a heavily laden bay freighter to accidentally collide with the submarine as she started out. The last last danger is feared by the subma-rise captain more than the first. He is willing to risk the warships. But his informants have made it clear that agents of the allied powers have been more than busy in the vicinity of Baltimore and he fears an "accident." As a result, it may be decided to hold the Deutschland at her pier until her sister ship Bremen puts in her appearance and then take her down the bay in daylight, surrounded by a watchful fleet of tugs to keep off "accidental" blunders. Captain Koenig believes his ship safer where she now is than lying somewhere down the bay.

TWO WIVES DIVORCED FROM 2 HUSBANDS

Mrs. Mulda Masters was granted a divorce today from Emmitt R. Masters, who did not appear in court. For over three years he has been willfully absent. She was given custody of their child and he must pay $10 a month toward the support of the child until it is 18 years old.

Mrs. Mabel I. Shick was given a divorce from Otto A. Schick, city fireman. He did not appear in court to contest the case. Extreme cruelty and gross neglect of duty were the grounds. She was restored to her maiden name of Mabel I. Shick.

OVERWORK CAUSES WILKINS' INSANITY

Clive C. Wilkins of Perry township, in his examination for lunacy this forenoon, said that he received a sign from God, pushed the conductor away from the bell-rope, on an interurban car, stopped the car and alighted because he knew he would be killed if he didn't. Wilkins said he wanted a Bible to decide whether Ben Welty was to run for county prosecutor. During the hearing, he threw an orange at Dr. I. F. Steiner, who was one of the physicians, conducting the inquest. Overstudy and overwork was ascribed as the cause of Wilkins' mental trouble. He was declared insane by Probate Judge F. C. Becker and on Monday will be taken to the state hospital at Toledo.

PRISONER OUTDOORS FIRST FOR A YEAR

Nick Lopi, by the Grace of Sheriff Eley, Gets an Airing Today.

Nick Lopi, Italian, who mortally stabbed James Patton with a big butcher knife on the evening of July 21, 1915, saw the light of day save through prison bars for the first time this forenoon since the tragedy occurred, which stirred residents of Pearl street, last summer. When the big prison door at the Allen county jail swung open this morning, Lopi walked forth as proud as though he were a free man.

This happy condition on the part of the prisoner was due to the good graces of Sheriff Sherman E. Eley. Lopi has been in jail a whole year. The sheriff took pity on him. He is sorrowful and not feeling the best. The big-hearted official decided to give him an airing, this beautiful mid-summer day.

With the sheriff, Lopi was taken to the business place of Victor Cardosi, one of his countrymen. He was allowed to visit the haunts of his old home on Pearl street. He enjoyed the bright sunshine and the beautiful out-of-doors.

As the pair walked through the corridors of the court-house, those who did not know Lopi would not have realized he was a prisoner in the jail. They would have taken him for a friend of the sheriff.

Lopi recognized all his friends about the county capital and stepped to talk a little while. He says he does not so much mind life in jail, but that the water does not agree with him.

When he had tasted of the beauties of the out-of-doors, Lopi was returned to the county jail. His case will be argued Tuesday before the court of appeals. His countrymen and attorneys will make an effort to save him.

Lopi is under sentence to the penitentiary for life. He quarreled with Patton over the affections of Mrs. Lillie Oregon and in a fit of anger wielded the knife which inflicted the injuries, resulting in the death of Patton.

BRUNO CASE HEARD.

Rattelle Bruno, arrested several weeks ago on a charge of cutting with intent to wound, and Tony Zinnamosca, arrested in the same case on a charge of shooting with intent to kill, received a hearing in criminal court today. The hearing started this morning and was continued in the afternoon.

John Bruno, brother of Rattelle, who was shot twice by Zinnamosca, was able to leave the City hospital to testify in the hearing. Although still somewhat weak from the wounds he received during the fracas, physicians are of the opinion that he will not be bothered by the wound in the lung.

A twilight musical will be held at Market street Presbyterian church Friday evening, July 28, at 7:30, in the interest of social service work at Lima. A silver offering will be taken.

Mrs. Charles Cosart was taken from the city hospital to her home at 728 Fairview avenue, this morning, in the Siferd invalid coach.

COOK MASTERPOLE OF CO. C. DENIES REPORTS ON FOOD

Joseph Masterpole, cook of the Company C camp outfit, repudiated the statements alleged to have been made charging that soldiers of Camp Willis, Columbus, are in a deplorable condition as regards food, clothing and health.

"A number of members of Company C who were unable to pass the examination held by federal officers at the state capital, have been casting reflections on the general condition of the camp," said Masterpole, "and according to my observation these charges are absolutely false."

"I saw three years service with the regular army and for four years have been a member of the national guard. During this time I have been in many mobilization camps, but have never seen as systematic a camp as that at Columbus at the present time."

While telling a representative of The Times-Democrat incidents of the camp life, he pulled out a shirt that had been worn by one of the men refused by federal officers. It was covered with dirt and grime and looked as if it had not been washed for weeks.

"You can see why some of the men who were unable to pass the examination kicked about conditions," said Masterpole. It is just the men that are too lazy to take care of their equipment and make the best of the shortage that are making a howl."

Masterpole accompanied by three companions of Company C came to Lima to return the uniforms of the rejected members of the company. They were packed and will be shipped to Columbus today.

COUNTY VISITORS URGE HOSPITAL AT THE INFIRMARY

The board of county visitors, making their regular tour of inspection on Thursday, July 13, looked over both the Allen county infirmary and the children's home. They recommended that a hospital be provided for the care of the sick at the infirmary, among other things. Members of the board are Calvin Osborne of Lima, president; Mrs. Ross M. Lundeman, of Delphos, secretary; Mrs. Anna M. Vicary of Lima, Mrs. Ida H. Breese, John H. Keller and W. F. Boyd, members.

The board in their report, filed today with the commissioners of Allen county, praised the work of Mr. and Mrs. James Yant, superintendent and matron respectively of the infirmary, and Mr. and Mrs. David Superintendent and matron respectively of the children's home. Miss Blanche Higby, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Higby, came in for great praise, because, without cost, and even paying the rental for a piano herself, she is teaching the young children music at the home.

The report of the board in full, is as follows: "On July 13, 1916, the Allen county, Ohio, Board of County Visitors inspected the county infirmary and the children's home, and the following report is based on such inspection, to-wit:

"At the infirmary there are 86 inmates, 65 being men and 21 women. All of the inmates seemed cheerful and were apparently satisfied with conditions and their superintendent and matron.

"Everything was found to be neat and clean and there are no complaints of any kind concerning the infirmary, either as to management or treatment of the inmates; however, we recommend that the hospital be moved a greater distance from the home, which recommendation the superintendent thought proper and stated he had such intention in mind for some time.

"The refrigerator was found to be in good condition and filled with newly-buttered beef. In the bake room we found 60 loaves of fresh bread, and were informed that the matron bakes that amount twice a week. The matron has also canned 160 cans of cherries and made about 100 glasses of jelly.

"On the farm there are 98 head of hogs, 57 head of cattle, 6 head of horses, 15 head of milch cows, 60 tons of hay, 35 acres in oats, 20 acres in wheat, 50 acres in corn and 1 acres in potatoes. In addition to this, there is a well-kept garden.

"Six girls are employed at the infirmary to assist in the cooking and housekeeping.

"We again recommend that a hospital be provided for the care of the sick, and that Kate Wilhelm be sent to an institution for the feeble-minded.

Inspect Children's Home.

"At the children's home we found everything in its usual good order and condition. We wish that every resident of the county would visit the home and see how well the children, from the smallest to the largest, are cared for.

"Last winter, for the first time in years, those in charge of the home had serious sickness to contend with, viz. measles and whooping cough, resulting in two fatalities.

"There are 87 children being cared for at the home.

"On the farm there are eight milch cows yielding 30 gallons of milk per day, all of which the children drink; they buy three kegs of butter every two weeks; there is now on hand 1,100 pounds of lard, 83 hogs and 150 chickens.

"There are 5 acres in potatoes, 40 acres in corn, 15 acres in oats, 500 bushels of old oats and 200 bushels of old corn. There were 88 1/2 gallons of cherries put up this year, 3 bushels of raspberries, 4 1/2 gallons of jam, and 170 glasses of jelly.

Miss Blanche Higby, daughter of the superintendent and matron of the home, has rented a piano and placed it in the girls' ward and is teaching music to about 15 girls without charge. Miss Higby paying rental for the piano herself.

These are the only institutions visited on July 13. Other proper institutions will be visited in the near future."

Open Campaign For $490,000

local board of education, as required by the state code and which the state will collect if necessary, the report of the Ohio department of education includes the following data:

1. High school is overcrowded to approximately twice the capacity allowed by the state code. Overcrowded condition in the Lincoln, Lovell, Franklin, Whittier, Emerson and Richardson buildings, especially the Lincoln and Lovell.

2. Inadequate and hazardous heating and ventilating systems. This fact is true of practically all of the old buildings in this city. They are only one or two buildings in the city in which the boilers, furnaces and coal rooms are placed within a fire-proof room. In most of the old buildings the furnaces are placed in various parts of the buildings under corridors and stairways. These furnaces were installed in the eighties and nineties and are inadequate at the present time to serve their purpose, besides being hazardous.

3. The sanitation of the building in general is fair, lacking in the most part drinking fountains and fire protection.

4. The lighting in general is fair. Some of the rooms, however, are to be changed to comply with the required amount of glass area and unbalanced lighting as noted above.

5. With the exception of two buildings all the wiring is exposed work. This is a dangerous hazard on account of fire. All wiring in school buildings should be run in conduit.

This department would recommend as a solution for the correction of the above condition in compliance with the state code the following: Additional quarters for the overcrowded condition of high school. One or more new grade buildings for the overcrowded condition in the grade schools.

Removal of the boilers to the outside of the high school building. Installation of new heating and ventilating system together with all of the above items in the grade buildings, to bring them up to answer the state code.

All orders mentioned in this report must be complied with or steps taken for their immediate correction before the next school term.

CHAUTAUQUA PLANS FOR 1917 INITIATED

Despite the fact guarantors for the chautauqua this year will be forced to pay out a sum of money to make good the contract, Lima is to have another chautauqua next year, if present plans are carried out. Already about twenty guarantors have been secured and fifty are needed, or an amount of $1,500 necessary to insure the chautauqua.

M. J. Sanford is in charge of the work of securing guarantors. While this year the chautauqua had to contend with first year's business and interest, there was also much against it in the extremely hot weather which characterized every session.

In case a chautauqua is held, the Coit-Alber company's program, which pleased so much this year, will again be used.

CHILDREN CONTEST FOR HONOR BADGES

Children who enjoy the days at the public playgrounds in the city parks will next week engage in an Athletic Badge contest, which will give the successful children the proud honor of wearing a badge. This work, which is now to Lima, is endorsed by the Playground and Recreation Association of America. Children who win the badges may meet children all over the world, equipped with like honor. Miss Blanche Werum, playground supervisor, says the boys and girls will like the contest. Three tests are made for honors for the boys and two for girls.

The children will enjoy a picnic next Tuesday afternoon at Fauror park. All children who avail themselves of the privilege of the playgrounds are invited. They are to bring their supper or lunch to be served at supper time. All children interested in the sewing and basket-making work should be present at that time.

Parents and children should remember the new schedule of hours effective at ten o'clock. From 9 until 11:30, in the morning they play and then over the hot noon-day time, is a respite. The children assemble again at 2 o'clock and they may remain until 7 in the evening. Parents are always welcome.

Positively no land sold to persons who cannot read English or German.

Why pay $500.00 to $1,000.00 for a lot in town when you can get an acre on a 5 1/2 cent trolley for $295.00?

As an acre will make six lots, the same amount of land will cost you $3,000.00 to $6,000.00 in town for a moderate location.

An acre will raise all the garden truck, chickens and fruit necessary for your family, and will easily pay for itself, and will not be eaten up by city taxes and improvements.

At Longacre Gardens you can secure a half acre or an acre on terms of only Two Dollars down and One Dollar per week, which is less than the average family spends at the movies.

A box of fine chocolates will be given to every lady visitor, and cigars to the men.

Come out and see this beautiful property whether you desire to buy or not.

If you want land, however, bring your Two Dollars with you, as no land is sold without a deposit.

Cars will run rain or shine, as there is shelter on the ground in case of rain.

RIDDLE

PLEADS FOR HARMONY.

"If Fourth Congressional District Democracy hopes to triumph at the November election, it will have to be sterilized, harmonized and vitalized at the Primary election, August 8," declares T. P. Riddle, one of the five candidates for the Democratic nomination.

T. P. RIDDLE,

Candidate for Congress From This District.

"Party interests should take precedence over personal and factional interests. To nominate a man who represents, directly or indirectly, one of the factional or sectional interests which contributed to the defeat of our party two years ago, merely courts the repeating of that defeat. Let's have harmony."—Adv.

'Ready For the Word' Are 225 Nags at Race Track

Never Better Class of Light Harness Horses Seen in Lima.

"Ready for the word." More than 225 horses are entered for the events of the summer meeting of the Lima Driving Park company which opens next Monday. Never in the history of the association has there been a better class of horses on hand for the light harness sport, and the week promises to be a banner event for "The Lexington of Ohio." Fortunately, there is no meeting next week in the Michigan Short Ship circuit, and as a result many horses will make Lima that week, that would not have been on hand otherwise.

The program is interesting for each day. On Monday three events are scheduled, the 2:15 trot; 2:18 pace, "Lima House $1,000 stake" and the 2:09 pace. The latter event will undoubtedly produce some record speed, as the local track is one of the fastest in the country.

Tuesday offers the 2:22 trot, 2:17 pace and the 2:14 trot, "Maple Lane Farm $1,500 stake."

Wednesday—the 2:12 pace, 2:16 trot, with the 2:20 trot "El Verso $1,000 stake."

Thursday there are four races on the card. The 2:21 pace, 2:13 trot, 2:15 pace and the 2:24 trot, for three-year-olds and under "The Hotel Waldo $600 stake."

Ladies will be admitted free at the gate this season, and the management has arranged for band concerts daily, making a program of clean sport and amusement that should be attractive to all who enjoy the harness horse races.

Horses that are entered in the stake events here have been showing exceptional speed in meetings earlier in the season, and these events promise to be of unusual interest.

FIND MISSING AUTO.

On information received from Bluffton, Ind., yesterday afternoon, local police picked up an automobile that had been stolen from the Hoosier city. The auto was located on the public square last night. Police left it standing in the spot where it had been left in hope that those who had left it there would return, but their vigil was not rewarded.

MOTORIZATION OF RURAL ROUTES IS GIVEN SET-BACK

Conference Agreement Left Question to be Decided By the Patrons.

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 22.—The motorization of rural routes in Ohio has been given a decided set-back by the conference report on the postoffice appropriation bill, which has been adopted by both houses and senate and is now a completed piece of legislation.

Under the conference agreement the question of motorizing rural mail routes will be left entirely to the patrons of the routes, and the postoffice department is deprived of the authority to take the initiative in establishing such routes. The department feels that its hands have been tied in a most unwarranted manner, but is now helpless to proceed unless asked to do so by the patrons of a proposed route.

The conference report contains this language: "Standard motor vehicle routes shall be 50 miles in length and shall be established hereafter when a majority of the proposed patrons who are heads of families residing upon such proposed routes shall, by written petition, ask the postoffice department to establish the same."

This question has caused a great deal of trouble in many communities in Ohio and other states, where the patrons protested that they were not getting good service from the motor routes. The new method will not affect routes already established, it will act as a very effective check on the postoffice in the establishment of motor routes in the future.

It is provided in the conference agreement that carriers of horse-drawn vehicle routes may use automobiles if they choose, and it is also provided that in constructing new routes the postoffice department must give preference for appointment of the new carrier to the man who formerly held the route. It had been charged by republicans that the motorizing of the rural service was a scheme to put out the republican carriers and put democrats in their place, and this agreement makes impossible such political tactics. Evidently it was inserted in the conference report when some of the democratic members of congress were asleep at the switch, for they have just found it out.

CARED FOR LIKE OPERA TROUPE ARE THE MEMBERS OF BARNUM-BAILEY'S ZOO

In some respects a circus bears resemblance to an opera troupe. At least no operatic impresario takes better care of his stars than do the managers of the Barnum and Bailey circus, which comes to Lima for two performances and a street parade, Wednesday, July 26.

The family of giraffes, including a baby born last January, together with Chimie Fadden, an interesting baboon, will be found in charge of a valet, whose sole interest lies in the welfare of his wards. Andrew Zingara, valet, practically lives with the strange animals who are as exacting in their demands as the most temperamental prima donna. It is Andrew that sees to it that Chimie's tobacco is properly kept, and that the oats are poured down the baby giraffe's long neck lengthwise, and not cross-wise. Zingara is proud of his task and will allow no one else to handle his charges. No English valet could be more careful about the temperature of his master's bath than is Zingara regarding the diet of his pets.

The Barnum and Bailey circus folk are proud of their zoo and confidently claim that it is the largest animal exhibit ever taken upon tour. Babe, the huge hippopotamus, who normally wears a bland smile, represents an investment of $7,000 and is one of the aristocrats of the zoo.

The circus admits, though, that it hasn't got a gorilla. A gorilla is practically priceless, because he can't be induced to live outside of Africa, even when you catch him, which is mighty seldom. Teddy didn't even see one. The gorilla's standard occupation is, or was, chasing Paul du Chailu with a club.

But the circus has got about everything else of note in the animal kingdom. In the performance this year the circus has specialized in trained animal acts and these include an elephant brass band, fox terriers and baboons who do riding stunts; some-erasing parrots and performing cockatoos, ravens and macaws; bears who walk on stilts, ride bicycles and skate on rollers like regular Hans Brinkers; a horse ballerina in which thoroughbred horses dance in time and precision with pretty girls; the artist model horses, dogs and ponies; trained rats, cats and pigeons who trot together under the spotlight without any fracture of neutrality, and many other numbers in which animals vie with their human colleagues of the circus. The circus is given under an 8 pole top—the largest spread of canvas ever erected; and the parade and performances are promised to represent the latest, best and most costly ideas in the circus field of entertainment.

Acting Police Judge Anderson stated this morning that his arrest was more of a protection for his money than anything else.

CHILD LABOR BILL

For a period of several months the measure abolishing child labor has been carefully concealed. Reposing in a committee, it has been allowed to be forgotten by all—except the president. To him the nation owes the final surrender of the senate.

If there are any who doubt the courage of Woodrow Wilson, or his independence of partisan blindness, let them note the following facts: Child labor is prevalent in the South, where the Democratic party is also the one strong factor. Southern Democratic senators, interested in mills which pay profits by killing children, induced a few Northern colleagues of both parties to help ditch the child labor bill. The entire body wants to adjourn, as well as does the lower house. The congressmen all have a re-election fight on their hands, as do one-third of the senators. Their campaign must be with that of the president. It is by claiming his friendship and by promising him support that the majority will be re-elected.

But Mr. Wilson has slipped one across in courageous style. On seeing the hope of the South to strangle the child labor bill he refused to adjourn the session, receive his notification, take to the stump for himself or for the party or even to consider the campaign near unless the bill passed. The senate saw that defeat faced the members unless they came out in the open and voted one way or the other, and refusal means suicide to many. As a result the bill is to become a law and thousands of children have President Wilson to thank. A man of courage is certainly to be preferred to the man who dodges the issues, parts the issues in the middle like his whiskers and does out meaningless phrases instead of policies on public questions.

You will get a chance to appreciate the child labor bill in November.

THE ARMOR-PLATE SENATORS

"Voting money into his own pocket" is the way the militant senator James A. Reed of Missouri characterizes the attitude of his colleague, Oliver of Pennsylvania, in voting against the federal armor-plate plant. Oliver is a stockholder in a great factory owned by the trust.

The Kansas City scrapper cut loose yesterday and told what he thought of the opponents of the federal plant who are interested in the combination now attempting to hold up the government. To quote:

I say that the senator from Pennsylvania admitted on this floor that he owned stock in a parent company to an armor plate concern, and therefore it is reasonable to suppose that some of the armor plate profits will end a musical fiddle from the pockets of the senator from Pennsylvania.

Not satisfied with administering to George F. Oliver the rebuke which was due him, Reed turned his guns on the Republican boss of Pennsylvania, the bulky Boies Penrose. The latter he accused of handing the franking privilege to the Bethlehem Steel company, the chief concern under Charles M. Schwab in clubbing extortionate prices from the government. Producing the Congressional Record, Reed showed that Penrose had included a Bethlehem circular in a speech in order to use his frank as a campaign advertisement.

If the two senators from the greatest of all Republican strongholds, the Keystone state, which has not gone Democratic since 1852, and which has always been the citadel of protection, are the representatives of Schwab and Frick, what can the rest of the party say in defense? Penrose is the leader of the senate Republicans. He is the boss of the party's biggest state. He is the real head of the organization. The party takes orders from a trust tool.

The only surprising thing about it all affects Oliver. We always thought George attended to the glass trust and left steel entirely to Boies.

WILSON TO THE POSTMASTERS

One would ordinarily expect that President Wilson, in addressing a convention of postmasters whom he had himself appointed and who represented his own party, would confine his remarks to politics and discuss the chances for Democratic success in November. But the address of Thursday proved quite a surprise to American readers.

Instead of talking politics, as every other president has done in such a case, Mr. Wilson talked service. "Give the public the service," he declared, "and you will have nothing for which to apologize. Forget your party and remember that you are a public servant."

There is only one reference to politics in the address, and it is significant. "The Democratic party will win if it deserves to win, and only in that case," he said. "Victory under such circumstances is worth having. It is the inevitable reward of performance of a duty."

The G. O. P. press has been careful to avoid attacks on that speech.

The senate has passed the big bill appropriating $315,826,843 for increasing the navy. That is genuine preparedness. And yet some G. O. P. orators claim the Wilson program was a "vote-catching bluff."

In the good old days of Republicanism that sum would have been squandered on postoffices, river improvements for streams like Hawley Creek, expensive trips to Panama for congressmen and free shaves, shines, shampoos and showerbaths for friends of the leaders.

When a stand-pat Republican paper engaged in boosting the robber tariff cannot find anything else on which to hang a kick, it is the usual thing to assail the now finished rural credits bill, on the ground that the farmer will lose his habit of saving if he no longer has to pay ten per cent interest.

Lieutenant-Colonel Gale was rejected at Camp Willis because of his excessive load of adipose tissue, but later accepted. Nothing like having a drug with the man after whom the camp is named. Misery loves company and both the cap and the professor are slightly above the 200 mark.

Camp Willis is a rather unattractive place, according to returning rookies. In that case we concede that it is well named.

GOOD EVENING: Every little candidate has a corner all his own on Saturday.

Mother Often to Blame Dorothy Dix Declares For Children's Neglect

Aged Women Generally Responsible When Sons and Daughters Fail to Welcome Them in Homes—Many Cause Trouble by Nagging and Constant Criticism.

GET a great many pathetic letters from old women complaining bitterly that their children neglect them, and that they are unwelcome inmates in their sons' or daughters' homes. Certainly nothing could be more tragical than the fate of the mother who sees the children that she has borne in agony, for whom she has toiled and sacrificed and slaved, turn from her without even an impulse of gratitude, and fall her when she needs their love and cherishing in her helpless infancy.

Nor is there any spectacle so revoltingly hideous as that of prosperous men and women who repay a mother's devotion with thanklessness, who begrudge a few dollars to her who has given her heart's blood to them, who ruthlessly kick down the patient, bent shoulders on which they have climbed to a higher social position, and who have no room in their full lives for the one who bestowed life upon them.

The old mother whom nobody wants is a very common figure, and one whom we may all pity, yet she has brought her troubles upon herself, and her case is worth considering by every other mother lest the same thing befall her.

Woman Herself Responsible for Treatment Her Children Give Her.

In the first place every woman's children treat her just as she teaches them to treat her. This sounds like a cruel and brutal thing to say, but it is true. Every mother in the world writes her own price tag, and her children take her at her own valuation.

If a woman makes a doormat of herself her children will use her as a doormat and walk over her without one thought of compunction. They will think that that is what she is there for. But if she makes of herself a fine and precious vessel they will admire and revere her as they would any other valuable possession, and handle her delicately and tenderly.

The mother who permits her three-year-old baby boy to speak to her impudently is deliberately raising up a son who will swear at her when he is grown. The mother who slaves and drudges around the house while her children loiter about in idleness is going to have to take in boarders to support them when they grow up into loafers.

The mother who goes ragged and shabby that her children may have a fine dinner, who never exacts any service from them, who lets them deride her opinion, is bringing up sons and daughters who will despise her and have contempt for her and neglect her when they start forth on their own careers.

She is bringing the curse down on her own head and she deserves what she gets, because she had her children when their minds and characters were plastic, and she might have instilled into them respect for her and chivalry toward her and a sense of their duty to the mother who bore them.

There are other mothers who are shrined like saints in the hearts of their children, mothers to whom their children can never show enough tenderness and affection. It's all a matter of teaching, of adopting the right attitude toward one's children. It lies with every woman, when her children are babies, to decide how they shall treat her when they are grown up.

It is the mother's own fault if her children neglect her. It is also the mother's own fault, to a large degree, if she is an unwelcome instead of a cherished guest in her children's households.

There is many an old woman who is a good woman and a mother who has made heroic sacrifices for her children but who is so disagreeable to live with that it would take more than mortal patience to stand her. There is the meddling old woman, for instance, who can never go into any household without rearranging its whole machinery and trying to run it her way.

Too Often Peace Packs Up and Leaves When Mother Comes.

If she goes to her son's house she criticizes the way daughter-in-law uses her best china every day, the way the children are being brought up, the size of the bills, the number of card parties daughter-in-law goes to, the price of her dresses.

If she goes to her daughter's house she nags her son-in-law to death because he drinks beer, and smokes, and belongs to a club, and plays golf on Sunday. In any house she enters peace packs up its dress suit case and flees for parts unknown.

And there is the querulous and complaining old lady who is a living edition of the Lamentations of Jeremiah, who is always weeping and mourning and complaining all over the place, and is so sensitive and has her feelings spread around her so far that you have to walk on eggs to keep from hurting her.

And there's the argumentative old woman who can never let any subject pass without disagreeing with everybody on earth, and the tyrannical old woman who wants to force everybody to do her way and think her thoughts, and the narrow and provincial old lady who is certain that the way she did in some obscure village fifty years ago is the way life ought to be run in the city today.

And there are also fifty other varieties of disagreeable and cantankerous old ladies who are home wreckers. When Aged Woman is Unwelcome Guest it is Generally Her Own Fault.

Generally speaking, whenever an old woman is not a welcome guest under any roof it is her own fault, for all of us know plenty of sweet, wise, gentle, forbearing, broad-minded old ladies whose children worship them, whose in-laws adore them, and whom we all welcome with open arms.

The moral of all of which is that we are mighty apt to get what is coming to us, and that it behooves every woman in her youth to begin to make herself the sort of a woman that everybody will want around them when she is old.

CHICAGO.

Chicago is unique among American cities in a score of ways. Unique first of all in its Americanism; for from Washington southward our great cities are southern; from Kansas City westward they are western, until you come to Los Angeles and San Francisco, which are Californian, and ill-starred is he who calls them anything else; New York is New York; but Chicago is American.

She is American in her bigness and her atmosphere of bustle. The first impression that you get of the Windy City is that everybody has half an hour's work to do in the next fifteen minutes. After a while it becomes evident however, that Chicago hurries because she likes to. She really has plenty of time. She rushes about in the spirit of the commuter who sprints for the 7:13 local in order to get to the office twenty minutes ahead of time to sit with his feet on the desk and read the morning paper twice over.

New York is in a hurry too, of course; but the New York rush is quite distinct from the Chicago bustle. It is the rush that five men make where there are only three places left at the breakfast-table. It is the hurry that comes from an over-high pressure of the modern struggle, a genuine spirit of "get on or get out." Chicago dashes ahead as are men dash for a breakfast-table with seven empty places, simply because they are feeling energetic and like to dash.

All the sights of Chicago are almost as familiar to the average American, from personal visit or reading or hearsay, as the sights of his own home town. The loop, and Michigan avenue and the stockyards are as much national institutions as the capitol. It is the spirit of Chicago that has never been put on paper. Every foreign visitor of note who visits our shores writes a book about us and spends half a dozen chapters circling around the question with indifferent success. The problem has been handled sociologically, analytically, romantically, impressionistically, and the only points where our visitors agree are in stating that Chicago is the most American of cities, and that somehow, whether they come from France or Sweden or India, she seems to remind them of home.

THREE MASSES AT ST. GERARD'S SUNDAY

Owing to the extremely large attendance at both the masses in the new St. George's parish last Sunday and the fact that the chapel is not large enough to accommodate the people, the Rev. J. C. Behr, pastor, has decided upon an additional mass for Sunday in the future.

Beginning with tomorrow and continuing until further notice, there will be three masses, celebrated at the following hours, 7, 9 and 10:30 o'clock.

Free Cars Sunday

Free cars will leave the Ohio Electric waiting room at 3 P. M. Sunday afternoon for Longacre Gardens, and stop for passengers along North Main street.

No tickets required for white American citizens over 18.

Positively no land sold to persons who cannot read English or German.

Why pay $500.00 to $1,000.00 for a lot in town when you can get an acre on a 5 1/2 cent trolley for $295.00?

As an acre will make six lots, the same amount of land will cost you $3,000.00 to $6,000.00 in town for a moderate location.

An acre will raise all the garden truck, chickens and fruit necessary for your family, and will easily pay for itself, and will not be eaten up by city taxes and improvements.

At Longacre Gardens you can secure a half acre or an acre on terms of only Two Dollars down and One Dollar per week, which is less than the average family spends at the movies.

A box of fine chocolates will be given to every lady visitor, and cigars to the men.

Come out and see this beautiful property whether you desire to buy or not.

If you want land, however, bring your Two Dollars with you, as no land is sold without a deposit.

Cars will run rain or shine, as there is shelter on the ground in case of rain. 7-21-22

39 DIE OF PLAGUE IN NEW YORK ONE DAY; NEW CASES LARGER

NEW YORK, July 22.—All records for deaths in the epidemic of infantile paralysis were broken during the 24 hours ending at 10 a. m., today. During that period, 39 children stricken with disease died.

Today's figures also showed a big increase in the number of cases, there being 134, as against 81 on Friday. The deaths numbered 32 on Friday.

Up to the present there have been 2,662 cases and 583 deaths, and the city physicians have abandoned hope that the disease will soon be under control. All five boroughs with the exception of Richmond, showed an increase today in the number of cases. In Brooklyn, center of the disease, the cases increased by 45.

The situation is more serious today than at any time previously because of the quarantine work done in cities and towns of the state bordering on New York. Scores of chil-

TEN COMMANDMENTS

The Author of the following, which appears in "The American City," is the son of Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Eastman, of Lima. The American City is inclined to believe that mankind needs no other commandments than the ten taught by Moses and the two by Jesus Christ; but sometimes we need further illuminations as to ways of carrying them out. Mr. Eastman's "Ten Commandments for Your Home Town" may add new meanings for some of us to the command "Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself." We would hang them, like the "Law and the Prophets," on the "first and great commandment, and the second, which is like unto it."

By REV. E. FRED EASTMAN.

I. Thou shalt love thy home town above all other towns. Thou shalt speak no evil of her; thou shalt be loyal to her people, worthy of the great men and women of her past, confident in her present, and full of hope for her future.

Thou shalt guard thy home town from the hosts of evil that would invade her and destroy her soul. The saloon, the gambling den, and the house of iniquity shall thou crush under thy heel, for they are the enemies of both God and man. Thou shalt keep the good name of the home town clean and without stain or blemish.

III. Thou shalt elect as thy public servants in political office men of strong character, without fear or favor of the boss or the ring, eager to conserve the best interests of thy people. And when thou hast elected such men, thou shalt stand by them and support them and encourage them; for their temptations are many and their burdens are not light.

IV. Thou shalt exalt thy public school and honor it all the days of thy life with the best of teachers, building and equipment, for the school is the cradle of democracy. Thy children are hers, and they shall be the citizens of tomorrow. No training is too good for them and no preparation superfluous.

V. Thou shalt defend the health of thy home town from the death that lurks in marshes, swamps and heaps of filth. Thou shalt exterminate the fly and likewise the mosquito. The tubercle-bacillus shall thou drive before thee with the sun and fresh air as thy allies.

VI. Thou shalt build good roads and keep them good, for by her roads is a village known for good or ill. Thou shalt not be content with sand in thy cup-holes, but only with oil and stone and tar. Eternal watchfulness shall be thy motto, that thy roads may not ravel nor thy supervisor forget thee.

VII. Thou shalt keep thy home town beautiful. The hills, the trees, the waters, that Nature has given her thou shalt preserve in sacred trust. No hovel of man shall thou permit to disfigure them. Thou shalt keep thy homes and thy door yards clean and cheerful. Thou shalt burn the caterpillar in his tent. Thy waters shall thou purify, that they may bring thee life and strength. The future of thy town shall thou plan with care and diligence, that thy growth be not haphazard, but full of thought and loving care, as the plans of a mother for the growth of her child.

VIII. Thou shalt go to church. Thou shalt not consider thyself too wise nor too busy nor too good to spend an hour or two on Sunday with thy neighbors in the worship of God. Thou shalt not send thy children to church, thou shalt bring them there. Thou shalt offer thyself to the minister and the officers of the church for the service of God and thy community.

IX. Thou shalt honor thy home town with a Neighborhood House. Thou shalt meet thy neighbors there on equal footing. Thou shalt work with them there for the common welfare. Thou shalt play with them there with all thy heart and strength and mind. Thus shalt thou know thy fellows better and thy friendships shall multiply.

X. Thou shalt not take to thyself any graven image of a community secretary. When thou findest a man thou desirest, thou shalt obey him. Thou shalt do as thou art bidden. Thou shalt serve on committees where thou art put and not intrude on committees where thou art not put. Thou shalt encourage thy secretary with thy service, thy loyalty and thy friendship. So shall ye win many battles together.

What a bumpy old highway it is we're on! Some are too busy to stop and question, to puzzle and bother, and wonder what the pack on the other man's back is, and some don't care. It is only their pack of which they think, but every where, everywhere are people and packs, and a lift is the least we each can give.

—Kate Langley Bosher: The House of Happiness.

An interesting feature of the English countryside, which present conditions tend to develop, is the railway embankment garden. Every encouragement is given by the companies to their employees to take up plots along the line, says the Monitor, and the traveler comes across them at every turn. The railway gardener by no means confines his efforts to growing vegetables, but will grow flowers of all descriptions, and the little patches, especially in the late summer, are often a blaze of color. The energy of the gardener is frequently prodigious, and Dean Hole, himself a great gardener, used to tell a story of one man who made a bargain with a neighboring farmer to exchange the gravel with which his plot was lumbered for sufficient soil to take its place. Patiently, in his spare time, he effected the exchange, finally securing one of the most fruitful gardens along the line.

The apartment house is not a modern institution, neither are explorers always men. Dr. Lusy Wilson of Philadelphia, who is about to start on her third trip as an explorer in the Indian villages of New Mexico, last year found in one of these villages an apartment house with 36 rooms. This discovery, particularly if it is followed by others of a similar nature this summer, may call for some changes in the front pages of the text-book in which the American schoolboy first learns about wigwams. It may also mean that a new chapter will have to be inserted in books dealing with the history of architecture.—C. S. M.

PERSONALITIES I HAVE MET

CHARLIE CHAPLIN.

Copyright 1916, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.
ONE AFTERNOON when my mother's return whisper, "I mother and I were dining at a cafe in Southern California, a very good-looking, ascetic young man with large, melancholy dark eyes, a shock of wavy black hair and a rather drooping mouth, came sauntering in and sat down at the table next to us.

"I think he is a poet," I whispered to my mother, for he wore a dark tie around his collar and had the abstracted, dreamy manner of one who is eternally seeking rhythm in words. Just because he did look so lonely and friendless we were quite sympathetic, nor did my mother overlook the fact that the young man ordered a very light supper, after first asking the waiter for his pencil.

"There!" I whispered triumphantly, as he abstractedly wrote a few lines upon a piece of paper, "I knew he was a poet!"

"Such a nice-looking boy," came

For fifteen minutes we sat gazing steadily at him, until a familiar figure sauntered in and drew up a seat opposite our poet. It was Mack Sennett.

"Well," said Charlie Chaplin—for it was he—after Mack Sennett had sat there for a few minutes looking over his shoulder at what he was writing on the paper, "you see I have just been figuring out my next year's income. Taking royalties, salary, and all, I cannot make a cent less than $350,000!"

Several weeks later, when we were introduced, I confided to him my first opinions of him, and how both laughed over them, though he can assure you it is not the time the world's greatest comedian has been taken for a somber-eyed poet. But that is why he is the world's greatest comedian, because his comedy is the most serious thing in the world, and he laughs with the people and not at them.

In one of my other articles, I mentioned that Charlie Chaplin's greatest ambition is to play the role of a dramatic "Hamlet," but this you will notice is a characteristic of all actors and actresses—the desire to portray roles the exact opposite of their own specialties.

Charlie Chaplin was a success in London before he came to America. In fact, it was in London, many years ago, that he first saw the walk of the old character who inspired his present famous make-up.

As Mr. Chaplin tells it, the old man was one of the hangers-on who decorated the doorway of a saloon and waited patiently until a customer would drive up. He was a gouty old fellow with his legs and feet all tied up in bundles of rags, and laboriously he would shuffle over to the street and hold the horses, hoping for a few pennies' reward which would buy him his ale.

Charlie Chaplin was just a boy at that time and was so amused by the old man's walk he would give imitations of it before his family, but because he was scolded for mimicking the infirmities of anyone, he forgot all about it until, years later, when he was on the vaudeville stage, he tried it on the audience and they laughed!

He is now with the Mutual, although for years he was associated with the Keystone.

All of them boys who have written me, asking me to intercede personally for them to try to get them an autographed picture of Charlie Chaplin, had better write to him direct, but I am not sure whether they will be rewarded or not.

He has many imitators, but there is no one who has the delightful personality nor is one-half so magnetic on the screen. He is very versatile, so versatile, in fact, that he took me in a second time.

I was visiting the Keystone studio one day, when my attention was attracted to a very pretty girl in a set.

"Is she a new star?" I asked Mack Sennett, and he roared with laughter—calling Charlie Chaplin over to do a little bit of a Pavlova before me!

"Not a girl," he cried as the comedian pulled off his wig, "but Charlie Chaplin, the imitatable!"

WHY?

Why pay $500.00 to $1,000.00 for a lot in town when you can get an acre on a 5 1/2 cent trolley for $295.00?

As an acre will make six lots, the same amount of land would cost you $3,000.00 to $6,000.00 in town for a moderate location.

An acre will raise all the garden truck, chickens and fruit necessary for your family, and will easily pay for itself, and will not be eaten up by city taxes and improvements.

At Longacre Gardens you can secure a half acre or an acre on terms of only Two Dollars down, and One Dollar per week, which is less than the average family spends at the movies.

Free cars will leave the Ohio Electric waiting room at 3 P. M. Sunday, to show this beautiful property, and stop for passengers along North Main street.

No tickets required for white American citizens over 18.

Positively no land will be sold to persons who cannot read English or German.

A box of fine chocolates will be given to every lady visitor, and cigars to the men.

Come out and see this beautiful property whether you desire to buy or not.

If you want land bring your Two Dollars with you as no land is reserved without a deposit.

Cars will run rain or shine, as there is shelter on the ground in case of rain.

THE FAUROT'S PICTURES.

For today only the Faurot will have a return of that admirable photoplay "He Fell in Love With His Wife." It is adapted from the celebrated novel by E. P. Roe and will be remembered as one of the best subjects ever seen on the Paramount program.

Florence Rockwell, an actress of rare talent, will be seen in the leading role, with James Kirkwood playing the opposite part. In point of settings and photography this great picture leaves nothing to be desired. It will be accompanied with new Paramount Pictographs and a new "Mishaps of Musty Suffer."

Sunday and Monday—The principal feature at the Faurot is the appearance of Pauline Frederick in "The World's Great Snare." Around the life of the western gold-miner there has been cast a romantic halo. This breath of romance has been breathed into the thrilling novel, by E. Phillips Openham in which Pauline Frederick is starred. The gold-mining scenes are only an incident in this swiftly moving drama which opens in England and shifts to San Francisco where Myra, the girl so exquisitely portrayed by Miss Frederick, is a dancer in the Montana cabaret. She is married to a drunken lout of a man who sinks so low that he barter for her with a man to whom he is in debt. Myra refuses absolutely to be party to any such miserable scheme and leaves her husband returning to Montana. Here she sees Bryan, a young Englishman, who has come to America in search of a certificate which will prove his claim to the earldom of Wessemere. From beginning to end the drama is one quick succession of gripping situations in which Pauline Frederick is superb.

A new Bray cartoon comedy, "Col. Heeza Liar and the Bandits," and the latest Pathe News.

Tuesday and Wednesday—Myrtle Stedman who was selected by the Pallas pictures to play the starring part in this Pallas-Paramount production "The American Beauty," at the Faurot, is a Chicago beauty. The best possible type to exemplify the national beauty, Miss Stedman was formerly a star on the Light Opera and Musical Comedy stage. Playing in such successes as "The Mikado," "A Knight for a Day," "Beggar Prince," "Fra Diavolo," and others. She was captured by pictures and has played a vast range of parts from Eskimo to regal honors. Her latest starring photoplay is her best and superb production.

In addition, Burton Holmes Travel pictures, "Munich the Magnificent," and the latest Pathe News.

Thursday and Friday—"The Scarlet Woman," with Madame Petrova, the supreme dramatic artist in the steller role, is one of the Metro's wonder plays to be presented at the Faurot. This sensational five-part feature is produced on a pretentious scale and offers boundless opportunity for Madame Petrova to display her rare emotional gifts in scores of big stirring scenes. Madame Petrova is surrounded by an excellent supporting cast which includes such notables as Arthur Hoops, Edward Martindell, Eugene O'Brien, Frances Gordon and other great artists.

A new comedy, "Taking a Rest," with Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Drew. And nature studies in Pathe color.

Next Saturday—The Faurot has been fortunate in securing a return booking of "The Spider" with Pauline Frederick in one of the best portrayals she has given the screen, and her many admirers will welcome the opportunity of again seeing a production that merits a place among the foremost screen successes. This great play will be accompanied by new Paramount Pictographs and a new "Mishaps of Musty Suffer."

Sunday—"Branscomb's Pal," a two-reel Rex society drama. "Spring Fever," an L-KO comedy with Billy Armstrong and Gertrude Selby, and other added comedies.

Monday—"The World's Great Snare," a two-reel Rex society drama. "Spring Fever," an L-KO comedy with Billy Armstrong and Gertrude Selby, and other added comedies.

Tuesday—"The American Beauty," a two-reel Rex society drama. "Spring Fever," an L-KO comedy with Billy Armstrong and Gertrude Selby, and other added comedies.

Wednesday—"The Scarlet Woman," a two-reel Rex society drama. "Spring Fever," an L-KO comedy with Billy Armstrong and Gertrude Selby, and other added comedies.

AT THE STAR.

Dorothy Phillips and Stanley Walpole, are at the Star today in a two-reel 101 Bison production, "Midwinter Madness." Miss Phillips as Rosalie, previous to her marriage to Jean Leonormand, had been wooed by a young trapper, Pierre Laroux. It was principally Pierre's weakness for drink that induces Rosalie to discard him in favor of Jean. But life in Jean's cabin is an endless round of drudgery for Rosalie. Although they are poor they are happy in the love of their child. Jean leaves for work, and while he is gone Pierre arrives as Rosalie is chopping wood, Pierre's love is reawakened, and he resolves to win her. See the finish of this great picture at the Star today. "She Was Some Vampire," a Joker comedy with William Frane and Gale Henry, and the Animated weekly will afford one of the strongest programs seen at this house of variety in some time.

In short, Mr. Vogel's happy inspiration is made to amuse, and amuse it does, but there is enough of the tone quality to interest and entertain that patron whose only desire is the songs of the masters.

PAULINE FREDERICK, FAMOUS PLAYERS-PARAMOUNT STAR.

"Have a drink?" It is perfectly free! You merely have to be as good an athlete as Pauline Frederick if you wish to imitate the cooling fluid. If the Famous Players-Paramount star had not escaped from the hands of her modiste and donned men's clothes she never could have had that drink without ruining a frock. The accompanying photograph gives an idea of the costume which this great emotional actress wears in "The World's Great Snare," a Paramount Picture which was adapted from the novel by E. Phillips Openham and produced by the Famous Players.

Grays Will Try Beating Lima at Murphy Sunday

The Lima Independent team is looking forward to one of their stiffest contests of the season at Murphy street park tomorrow afternoon, when they face the fast Bellefontaine Grays. However, with the addition of "Flash" Costello, who will strengthen the weakness in the outfield, it is believed that the locals will put up a stiff battle.

The Grays have achieved quite a record so far this season. They have been meeting some of the most important club of the state and look to be one of the best semi-pro teams in the state. On July 4 they defeated the Urickle team of Cincinnati, taking one game in the morning and another in the afternoon.

According to the manager of the Bellefontaine club an effort is being made to obtain the services of Laddie Linko, former pitcher in the American Association and American league. Fans of Lima will remember Linko as a pitcher for the Lima team of the Ohio State league a number of years ago.

Manager Callahan of the Independents is attempting to obtain the services of several other good ball players as he is desirous of landing the championship of the whole state if possible. It is intimated that one of the players under the eye of the manager is Bobby Curtis.

With the exception of the appearance of Costello in a Lima uniform, the line-up of the club will be intact. Carroll, the stellar boxman of the Lima team, will act in his usual capacity. Dave Westby will be on hand to relieve him in case of necessity. The game will be called at 3 o'clock in the afternoon.

Referee Causes a Dispute

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., July 22.—Fight fans here today were not particularly enthusiastic over Freddie Welsh and his manager, Harry Pollok. Their refusal to accept Bill Hoke as referee on the ground that Pollok "didn't know him" was responsible for the calling off of the bout with Charley White, but Boxing Commissioner Robert Seiberlich stands on his assertion that Pollok is in the wrong because he should have filed his formal protest 48 hours before the match was scheduled to take place.

Nate Lewis, White's manager, declined to take part in the squabble and declared that any referee was acceptable. Pollok's attitude recalled the story published here yesterday that the only thing that stands between Welsh and a 20-round go for $17,500 in Colorado Springs is Pollok's refusal to accept any other referee than Billy Roche. The Colorado people will not stand for Roche, with the probability that the match never will be pulled off.

WELSH AND WHITE TO FIGHT

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., July 21.—The last possible obstacle in the way of Freddie Welsh-Charley White combat today has been removed. Sherman and Elliott have bought enough of James Connolly's stock to ensure control of the boxing club here and in St. Paul and announce that there is no further question of the bout being staged as planned. Connolly had become disgruntled and had threatened to block the performance. Welsh is to get $3,500 and White $1,000 with a percentage gam-blo for more. The plan to have a Chicago newspaperman referee the bout was halted by Boxing Commissioner Seiberlich, who announced that unless a Minnesota man was on the job there would be no battle.

SHORT SPORT

What Matty did:
Had his Reda tie the score in the ninth inning only to lose out in the tenth.

What Herzog did:
Batted .500; drove in the winning run; fielded 1,000; stole a base and checked Cubs' rally in the ninth.

The White Sox and Nationals are having death grapples these days. Neither seems to be able to get the jump on the other.

Officers Risk Their Lives

By Frederic J. Haskin.

NEW YORK, July 22.—On the night of October 28, 1915, a man entered the cigar store of a well-known concern on the lower Bowery and asked for a couple of cigars. As the clerk stopped to extract them from the case, the man covered him with a revolver and coolly demanded the contents of the safe. Fortunately for the cigar store clerk, at this juncture a policeman was seen approaching, and the man turned and fled. The officer fired at him, and missed but the report was heard by John A. McCarron, a patrolman, farther down the street, who took up the pursuit. Twice the fleeing burglar discharged his revolver at McCarron, wounding him each time, but in spite of that the patrolman followed him up to the fourth story of an empty building. Again the burglar's revolver blazed forth, grazing McCarron's cheek, but immediately guided by its flash, the patrolman discharged his own three times. One of these bullets penetrated the burglar's leg, and being unable to continue his flight he came out from his hiding place, hands up.

This is only one instance of the remarkable feats of courage performed by the New York policemen, to whom such things are mere incidents of what is, under any circumstances, a risky business. A few years ago such a feat of courage as McCarron's would have passed unnoticed; but such is no longer the case in New York. A medal of honor is now provided by the police department and McCarron is one of the first to wear it.

For many years it has been the American custom to invent wheezes concerning the incompetency of our police force until the popular conception of the average policeman was that of a fat, quillible individual who was the special pet of comic supplements, Keystone comedies and crooks. Not so now. The modern metropolitan policeman is a keen-eyed, athletic-looking person who does his duty swiftly and creditably even in the face of death. Not that he is afraid of public indignation. For instance, no amount of bribery, supplication or entreaty could induce a policeman to let you get off a street car at a crowded street crossing if the traffic sign happens to signal "Go". In fact, in New York you are lucky if you succeed in leaving a street car within three blocks of where you intended to get off. If anything happens to the mechanism of an open car, the running boards are immediately folded under the car, and there you sit until the car is fixed, under guard of a stern and taciturn policeman.

The modern policeman is not permitted to be fat. When he first enlists in the municipal service, he is put in the district gymnasium where he is exercised and drilled until his muscles are hard and he is physically fit. He is shown exercises for strengthening the arches of his feet, since broken arches is the great affliction of the police corps; he is taught jitsu jitsu and how to shoot; a revolver while in various positions; and he is given a short course in criminal psychology. This regular training school, in which a policeman stays for six weeks before he is detailed to duty, is one of the most important factors in the efficiency of the New York police force. It is this school which is turning out such policemen as McCarron.

In a city the size of Manhattan, containing districts where every third man has a criminal record and where a murderer may be hired for the sum of twenty-five dollars, the life of a policeman is in constant danger. There are times when he must pretend to join the ranks of the enemy and thereby obtain evidence against the most notorious crooks, frequenting their dives in plain clothes so as not to arouse suspicion. In such a predicament was Patrolman John C. Caspers when called upon by another officer to assist in the arrest of Red Hartman and Andy Lewis, two drug fiends who had notorious criminal records and were wanted at headquarters. The two men fled from the officers who followed close on their trail. When Caspers was within a few feet of Lewis, the creek drew a revolver and attempted to fire at him, but the cartridge failed to explode. Caspers attempted to grapple with the crook, but the next time Lewis pulled the trigger the cartridge did explode and the bullet went into Caspers' thigh. Momentarily stunned by the bullet, the policeman released his hold on Lewis who again started to run. The policeman pursued for a short distance, and the crook sent another bullet into his leg. Still Caspers struggled on until Lewis climbed a six-foot wall and made good his escape, since it was impossible for the policeman with his wounded leg to scale the wall.

Besides the capture of crooks, policemen yearly drag numerous persons out of the river at the risk of their own lives, and in case of fire the strong arm and the swift courage of the modern policeman are of great value. Last year, for example, there was a big explosion in the ammonia plant of a large New York refrigerating concern. Three minutes later Patrolman Edward F. Doyle was on the scene, telephoning for the fire department and making his way through the smoke and fumes of ammonia gas in search of victims of the disaster. He was warned by the manager of the plant that there would be a second explosion, but unheeding, Doyle pushed on until he came upon a man, who almost overcame by the fumes. As Doyle was trying to crawl up the stairway from the boiler room, Doyle picked him up and carried him on his back to the men assembled in the yard, and then went back to save others. Shortly afterwards, the second explosion occurred and the policeman was thrown into the street, badly cut by broken window glass. For this act of bravery, Doyle was awarded the honor medal of the Automobile Club of America.

The medals of honor are an important feature of the New York police force. Every spring the department holds its annual parade, in which battalions of bluecoats march and drill and perform the callisthenic exercises which are taught in the training school. At the conclusion of the parade the mayor of New York presents six medals of honor to policemen who during the year have performed the most conspicuous feats of bravery, one of these being awarded by the police department, and the other five by private citizens or clubs. The private medals are the Rhineland Medal for Valor; the Isaac Bell Medal for Bravery; the Peter F. Meyer Medal; the Automobile Club Medal and the Brooklyn Citizens' Medal. The man who receives one of these medals is the envy of all his brother officers, and this element has its influence in the willingness of policemen to follow up criminals at the risk of their lives.

There is also another element in this situation which is an incentive to following the criminal in the face of death. The policeman knows that if he is killed his family will be well provided for. For many years, if a man were killed in the service, the department was authorized to issue a small monthly allowance to his wife, but the sum was anything but adequate. Then, in 1914, a courageous detective sergeant named Joseph Guarneri was killed in an attempt to arrest a man for felonious assault. He left a wife and several children for whom there was no adequate provision. The case received a great deal of publicity, and a private citizen came forward with the proposition of starting an honor fund for the relief of widows and children of officers killed on duty, contributing as a basis one thousand dollars. The police then held a meeting in order to decide upon a plan for swelling the fund, and it was finally proposed that every year they should hold two field days, in which various members of the force would exhibit their athletic prowess in a big athletic meet, for which they would sell tickets. The plan was a success, the first exhibition netting the policemen eighty-five thousand dollars, and now the meets are regular events looked forward to by their audiences as well as the policemen. The 1916 field day exercises have just closed, and among the first to be taken care of from the gate receipts was the widow of Patrolman Schwartz, who was recently killed while trying to arrest a couple of Italian criminals.

From this it may be seen that the popular idea of the American policeman and especially the New York policeman is often unfair and erroneous. The Metropolitan policeman today is a man with high standards of duty and courage, a unit of efficiency in a large organization and often a hero.

WHY?

Why pay $500.00 to $1,000.00 for a lot in town when you can get an acre on a 5½ cent trolley for $295.00?

As an acre will make six lots, the same amount of land would cost you $3,000.00 to $6,000.00 in town for a moderate location.

An acre will raise all the garden truck, chickens and fruit necessary for your family, and will easily pay for itself, and will not be eaten up by city taxes and improvements.

At Longacre Gardens you can secure a half acre or an acre on terms of only Two Dollars down, and One Dollar per week, which is less than the average family spends at the movies.

Free cars will leave the Ohio Electric waiting room at 3 P. M. Sunday, to show this beautiful property, and stop for passengers along North Main street.

No tickets required for white American citizens over 18.

Positively no land will be sold to persons who cannot read English or German.

A box of fine chocolates will be given to every lady visitor, and cigars to the men.

Come out and see this beautiful property whether you desire to buy or not.

If you want land bring your Two Dollars with you as no land is reserved without a deposit.

Cars will run rain or shine, as there is shelter on the ground in case of rain.

PITTSBURGH — Pittsburgh's "three for five" stogies hereafter will sell at "two for five" because the European war has caused the female "stogie makers" to turn to the war munitions trade.

CENTENNIAL BODY TO MEET SATURDAY

A meeting of the Allen County Centennial and Home-coming association will be held on next Saturday at 1:30 o'clock at the Chamber of Commerce, at which time a constitution and by-laws will be adopted. Dr. W. E. Hoyer, John Wahm-hoff and Allen Philipps compose the committee which will draw up the constitution and by-laws and present them at this meeting.

It is expected that at that time, a committee to solicit funds for financing the association for the celebration next year may be named. The organization in the various townships will be reported at that time. A committeeman from each school district will be named to serve on the sub-committee, which will play a wide part in assisting in the celebration.

the astonishing increase of woman students in all German universities. Even the University of Muenster, which formerly did not encourage the feminists, now has 271 women among its students. Some of them are widows of soldiers.

Before the war the women only in rare cases studied anything but medicine, languages, philosophy, literature and art, but now they are taking up all kinds of scientific professions, even engineering, architecture and theology. The greatest attraction for them is law, however. In a few years Germany will have more women attorneys than any other country in the world.

DON'T Make Lima the Dog!

Do you get the drift?

If not, recall the old expression: "Try it on the dog first."

When a housewife is doubtful of the safety of a new medicine or a recipe for cooking, Faithful Fido becomes the laboratory. If the concoction doesn't send him to Puppy Paradise, it's safe.

The same class of research is often tried in politics. Experiments of dubious effect are tested out on a helpless portion of the body politic.

Experimenters interested in the validity of the Initiative and Referendum are now trying to make a test case. The Lima Telephone and Telegraph Company is to be attacked under the initiative law in order to ascertain whether or not the law will stand the test of the courts. In other words, "try it on Lima first."

Don't let experimenters make our city the crucible in which to test possible explosives. Know where you are going before you start. Don't make Lima the dog on which to try out the doubtful qualities of municipal ownership.
